

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
May 28, 2009

Contact: Anne Brown
Community Relations/Public Information Officer
(614) 854-7173

Worthington Website Improvements Good for Business and Information

(Worthington, Ohio) - The City of Worthington has made improvements to the www.worthington.org community website that make it easier for residents, businesses and visitors to find new and current information. The home page has been redesigned to allow more current information to be posted and updated regularly. The “Quick Links” on the left hand side take visitors quickly to the areas they need most. Highlights in the center of the page offer information and links to current news and information.

One new feature that is important to businesses looking to locate in Worthington is the addition of a property search feature. Website visitors can access the Property Search through a link on the home page to the Business and Development section of the website. The search database is generated by Xceligent and lists available industrial, office, land, MUH, retail and special use properties for sale or lease in the City of Worthington. Businesses can easily enter their search criteria for space, location and lease rates and instantly receive a list of available properties in Worthington. The listings include photos, maps and other pertinent information on each property and the ability for the visitor to send an email for more information. This feature is a great addition to the website and offers businesses information to help them locate their company in Worthington.

###